1. What is an “eviction moratorium”?

A “moratorium” is the temporary prohibition of an activity. On February 21, 2021, the City of San Diego has passed an eviction moratorium ordinance, which prevents a landlord from evicting an eligible tenant while the eviction moratorium is in effect. However, statewide COVID-19 Tenant Protections (AB 3088, SB 91, AB 832, and AB 2179) prevented the ordinance from going into effect. The statewide preemptions on local governments will expire on June, 30 2022 unless extended by state law once more. The requirements for qualifying as an eligible tenant are discussed below.

2. When will the non-payment of rent eviction moratorium be in effect?

The Non-Payment of Eviction Moratorium will be in effect on July 1, 2022 (unless state preemptions are extended) until 60 days after the Mayor of San Diego lifts the local state of emergency.

3. Will the City of San Diego Non-Payment of Eviction Moratorium protect me against eviction for rent accrued and owed before July 1, 2022.

NO! Due to preemptions in state law, local governments are NOT allowed to provide additional protections for nonpayment of rent for rent that was owed and accrued before July 1, 2022.

4. Who is an “eligible tenant” protected by an emergency eviction moratorium?

Eligible residential tenants include those whose income and ability to pay rent have been substantially affected by the COVID-19 pandemic. You may be protected by an emergency eviction moratorium if you have experienced any of the following (this is not an exhaustive list):

- Loss of employment due to COVID-19;
- Loss of employment due to diagnosis of COVID-19 or recommended quarantine;
- Loss or substantial reduction in employment due to a loss of childcare due to school closure;
- Loss of employment resulting from need to care for a family member suffering from COVID-19;
- Loss of income due to state/local requirement requiring those 65 and over to stay indoors;
- Compliance with an order from a government health authority to stay home, self-quarantine, or avoid congregation with others during the state of emergency;
- Compliance with other federal, state or local COVID-19 mandate precluding the tenant from earning their normal income;
- Incurred substantial medical costs related to COVID-19.

If your income or ability to pay rent has been affected by the COVID-19 pandemic, you must notify your landlord and provide documentation demonstrating the relationship between your inability to pay rent and COVID-19. Failure to give timely notice waives the protections under the eviction moratorium.

Please be aware that most of the emergency eviction moratoriums do not provide protection for all nonpayment of rent – the inability to pay rent must be related to or a result of the COVID-19 pandemic or any governmental response to the COVID-19 pandemic.

5. I lost income as a result of COVID-19. When and how do I inform my landlord that I am unable to pay my rent?

You must inform your landlord in writing that you are unable to pay the rent due to a COVID-19 related issue and provide supporting documentation.

FAILURE TO PROVIDE NOTICE OR DOCUMENTATION WITHIN THE REQUIRED DAYS WAIVES THE PROTECTIONS OF THE EVICTION MORATORIUM.

NOTICE MUST BE PROVIDED EACH MONTH YOU ARE NOT ABLE TO PAY RENT BECAUSE OF COVID-19.

- You must inform your landlord in writing on or within seven (7) days after your rent is due that you are unable to pay the rent due to a COVID-19 related issue.
- Within seven (7) days of providing notice of not being able to pay due to COVID-19 financial impact, the landlord may request the tenant provide documentation to verify tenant is not able to pay rent due to COVID-19 financial impact.
 - Tenant shall have fourteen (14) days from the date of the landlord's request to provide the documentation needed to verify tenant inability to pay rent due to COVID-19 financial impact.

You may inform your landlord and provide documentation by writing a letter, sending an email, or sending a text message to your landlord or your landlord's representative. If you provide the notice in person, follow up in writing confirming when you provided the written notice in person. If mailed, sent via first class mail with tracking to have proof of mailing.

6. Does the landlord need to provide me a blank copy of the notice of my inability to pay the rent due to a COVID-19 financial impact?

NO! The landlord does not need to provide you a blank copy of notice of your inability to pay rent due to COVID-19 financial impact.

7. What kind of documentation do I need to provide my landlord to demonstrate that I cannot pay the rent as a result of COVID-19, and when do I need to provide it?

An eligible tenant, residential, must provide supporting documentation to show they cannot pay the amount of rent due because they were impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic. (See attached notice template for residential tenants at the end of this FAQ.)

Start collecting this documentation early! You need to provide it to your landlord as soon as possible, and will need to provide additional documentation later on if you need more time to pay your rent.

In the City of San Diego, you must provide documentation within 7 days of the date rent was due.

Examples of acceptable documentation may include, but is not limited to:

- Letter or note from your job stating that you have been laid off, that your hours have been reduced, or that your place of business is closed due to COVID-19;
- Letter or text message from your child's school/pre-school/daycare regarding closures;
- Text message or email from your employer asking you not to come to work;
- Photo showing your place of employment is closed due to COVID-19;
- Screenshots from Uber, Lyft, Instacart, DoorDash, etc. applications showing that you have experienced reduced income;
- Pay stubs or copies of paychecks for a few months showing that your income has been reduced;

- Medical documentation related to COVID-19;
- Receipts for medical costs related to COVID-19;

The law requires that any medical or financial information provided to a landlord must be kept confidential and only used for the sole purpose of evaluating the tenant's claim for eligibility under the emergency eviction moratorium.

8. What if you fail to provide timely notice of COVID-19 financial impact or the documents verifying COVID-19 financial impact?

You will still be protected if the tenant can demonstrate they were not able to timely comply because it was impossible due to hospitalization or other incapacity of the tenant.

9. Do I have to turn in a notice of COVID-19 financial impact every month I cannot pay my rent due to COVID-19 financial impact?

YES! You are required to turn in a notice COVID-19 financial impact, and supporting documentation if timely requested by the landlord, every month you are not able to pay rent due to COVID-19 financial impact.

10. Does the eviction moratorium require the landlord to include any specific language in a nonpayment of rent notice?

NO! The eviction moratorium does not require the landlord to include any language about the eviction moratorium in a nonpayment of rent notice.

11. If I am an eligible tenant, do I still have to pay my rent?

YES! An emergency eviction moratorium does not relieve you of your responsibility to pay rent. If you are able to pay some portion of your rent, you must pay whatever amount you can (this amount will not be considered a "delayed payment").

In the City of San Diego, eligible tenants have until expiration of the ordinance which will be 60 days after the Mayor lifts the local state of emergency to pay their landlords all unpaid rent.

12. Does the eviction moratorium establish a rental assistance program?

NO! The eviction moratorium DOES NOT establish a rental assistance fund for tenant to apply for rental assistance.

13. If I am protected by the eviction moratorium, may my landlord charge me late fees or interest?

City of San Diego does not allow your landlord to charge you late fees for rental payments that fall within the terms of the respective ordinances.

14. I received a “no-fault eviction” notice from my landlord, am I protected by this emergency eviction moratorium?

A so-called “no-fault eviction” is an eviction where the tenant is evicted through no fault of their own. They paid their rent on time. They followed the rules. However, the landlord has decided at the end of the tenant’s lease term that he no longer wishes to rent to that tenant.

On April 22, 2022 the City of San Diego passed a no-fault eviction moratorium. Please refer to our FAQ on the City of San Diego No Fault Eviction Moratorium located on the bottom page of our homepage at www.lasod.org.

15. I live in a garage, rent a room, or live in an illegal rental unit. Does this emergency eviction moratorium protect me?

Yes. The emergency eviction moratorium applies to every residential tenant in regardless of the type of unit they live in or how long (excluding hotel occupancy or short-term rentals of less than 30 days) they have lived there.
